

OncePayFreePlay

OPFP LICENSE

This OPFP License regulates the terms and conditions for the use of licensed Works. By purchasing an OPFP License for Works, or for Works under the OPFP License, you agree to the terms of this License.

§ 1

Definitions

Works – musical or verbal – musical works being works within the definition of the Act of 4 February 1994 on Copyright and Related Rights (unified text from 2016, item 666), to which the Licensor has exclusive licensing rights under the OPFP License.

OPFP License – a OnePayFreePlay License defining the terms and conditions of using the Works transferred to the use of the Licensee. The content of the OPFP License is the final interpretation in case of any disputes related to the interpretation of the License. The Licensor is the exclusive representative and contractor of the OPFP License.

License Type – type of OPFP License, which defines the fields of use and the terms of use of the Licensed Works.

Licensor – an entity entered under the name FANMEDIA MUSIC LTD with its registered office at 71-75 Shelton Street, Covent Garden, London WC2H 9JQ, United Kingdom, Company Number 12476918 in the register kept by The Registrar of Companies for England and Wales.

Licensee – End user, who for a fee has purchased the non-exclusive right to use the Works made available under the OPFP License in accordance with the terms and conditions set out in it.

License Fee – a one-off and non-refundable fee that the Licensee pays. The amount of the License Fee depends on the rights resulting from the License Type. The Document confirming the payment is the OPFP License Purchase Document.

OPFP License Purchase Document – documents confirming the payment of the License Fee issued by the Licensor – an invoice with identification of the Licensee and Works, OPFP License with identification of the Licensee, Works and License Type.

§ 2

General provisions

1. All Licenses under the OPFP License are subject to the terms of this License. By purchasing an OPFP License for Works or for Works already under the OPFP License, you agree to the terms of this License.
2. The OPFP License is not transferable, which means that the License is assigned to one specific Licensee. OPFP Licenses cannot be sold, lent, rented, hired, or made available to third parties.
3. An OPFP License is granted to one Licensee for the entire duration, of the use of the Works to which s/he has acquired the License, in accordance with the Document of Purchase of the OPFP License. The Licensee may use the license rights at the same time only on one device and in one place. An exception may be in the fields of exploitation, where this is clearly indicated.
4. The acquisition or purchase of an OPFP License means that the Licensee has been granted a non-exclusive, non-transferable right to use the Licensed Works in specific fields of use, to the extent resulting from the selected License Type worldwide. The Licensee in no way acquires ownership of the Licensed Works. All rights of the Licensor and the owner of rights to the Works are reserved.
5. Acquisition of the right to use the OPFP License takes place upon payment of the License Fee. The Document confirming the payment is the OPFP License Purchase Document.
6. This OPFP License is granted under the condition that the Licensee complies with all the terms of the License and that the Licensee has a document confirming payment of the fee for the purchase of the License - Document of Purchase of the OPFP License.
7. The Licensor and the owner of rights to the Works are not liable for any direct or indirect losses resulting from the use of the OPFP Licenses for Works under the OPFP License in any form.
8. The Licensee has, at any moment, the right to waive the rights under the OPFP License. Resignation occurs by ceasing to use the Licensee's rights to Licensed Works depending on the type of License. The Licensee shall not be entitled to a refund of the License Fee or any other costs incurred.
9. The Licensee has, at any time, the right to resume the use of the rights resulting from the content of the OPFP License. It is a prerequisite to comply with its provisions and to have a Document of Purchase of OPFP License.

§ 3

Fields of Exploitation

1. For the purposes of the OPFP License, in order to clarify the terms and conditions of use of the Licensed Works, the fields of use on which the Licensee has the right to use the Works, depending on the License Type, are described as follows.
 - a. Public play – means playing Works in a place accessible to third parties. You may play the Works at any one time only on one device, and in one place.
 - b. Public performance – includes licensing of the dependent rights to the reproduction of works in combination, synchronization with other verbal or verbal – music Works in real time to which the Licensee has appropriate rights, and which together form an inseparable whole. You may play the Works at any one time, on multiple devices, only in one place, to which third parties have access.
 - c. Public display – includes granting to the Licensee dependent rights in the playback of Works in combination, synchronization with other multimedia works in real time, to which the Licensee has appropriate rights, and which together form an inseparable whole. You may play the Works at the same time, on multiple devices, only in one place to which third parties have access.
 - d. Public exposure – includes the granting of rights to the Licensee in the playback of Works in combination, synchronization with other works having artistic, scenic, stage-musical and choreographic character in real time, to which the Licensee has appropriate rights, and which together form an inseparable whole. You may play the Works at the same time, on multiple devices, only in one place to which third parties have access.
 - e. Broadcasting and retransmission – the broadcast of Works by manner of wired or wireless sound or vision via ground station, cable stations, via satellite and simultaneous and integrated broadcasting (retransmission), by means of, among others digital platforms and cable networks, via mobile or online substitutes for traditional television or radio broadcast (e.g. mobile TV, IPTV (streaming TV or video-on-demand), streaming radio).
 - f. Use on websites – includes the granting of the dependent rights to the Licensee in the scope of preparing all or parts of the Works for use on the Licensee's own website or the client's site for which the Licensee performs multimedia work.
 - g. Use in multimedia works – includes the granting of dependent rights to the Licensee in the scope of combining and synchronizing the Works with other audiovisual works to which the Licensee has appropriate rights, and which together form an inseparable whole.

- h. The use of all or parts of the Works for promotional and advertising purposes – includes the granting of dependent rights to the Licensee in the preparation of all or parts of the Works for use in events, campaigns, promotional and advertising campaigns.
2. Any other use of dependent rights requires a separate License and a fee agreed individually with the Licensor.

§ 4

Type and scope of the OPFP License

1. Depending on the type of License, the Licensee obtains the right to use the Works in specific fields of use.
2. You may choose the following License Types:
 - a. OPFP PERFORMANCE License
 - b. OPFP BROADCAST License
 - c. OPFP PRODUCTION License

§ 5

OPFP PERFORMANCE License

1. The OPFP PERFORMANCE License entitles the Licensee to use the Works in the following fields of use:
 - a. Public play, Public performance, Public display, Public exposure.
2. The OPFP PERFORMANCE License does not entitle the Licensee to use the Works in the following fields of use:
 - a. recording on any audiovisual and/or audio media, in particular on audio, video, photosensitive tape, magnetic tape, computer disk and all types of media intended for digital recording,
 - b. reproduction by any technique, including: magnetic technique onto video, audiovisual discs or any form of media adapted to this form of recording, any production whose aim is to make copies of the work, including printing, magnetic recording, reprographic and digital techniques,

- c. the right to trade in copies of media at on a national and international, market using the Internet and other data transmission techniques by manner of telecommunications, IT and wireless networks,
- d. lending, renting, hiring and leasing of media on which the Works are recorded,
- e. broadcasting via wired and wireless vision or sound systems by ground station and cable stations,
- f. broadcasting via satellite,
- g. simultaneous and integral broadcast (retransmission) of Works, among others, via digital platforms and cable networks,
- h. simultaneous and integral broadcast (retransmission) of Works via mobile or online substitutes for traditional television or radio broadcast (e.g. mobile TV, IPTV (streaming TV or video-on-demand), streaming radio),
- i. preparing foreign language versions,
- j. entering onto computer and multimedia network in an unlimited number of copies and number of editions,
- k. use on websites,
- l. use in multimedia works,
- m. use of all or parts of the Works for promotional and advertising purposes,
- n. making a Work available to the public in such a way that everyone may have access to it in a place and time of their own choosing, in an unlimited number of copies and volume of editions.

§ 6

OPFP BROADCAST License

1. The OPFP BROADCAST License entitles the Licensee to use the Works in the following fields of use:
 - a. Public play, Public performance, Public display, Public exposure,
 - b. Broadcasting and retransmission,
 - c. Use on websites.
2. The OPFP BROADCAST License does not entitle the Licensee to use the Works in the following fields of use:

- a. recording on any audiovisual and/or audio media, in particular on audio, video, photosensitive tape, magnetic tape, computer disk and all types of media intended for digital recording,
- b. reproduction by any technique, including: magnetic technique onto video, audiovisual discs or any form of media adapted to this form of recording, any production whose aim is to make copies of the work, including printing, magnetic recording, reprographic and digital techniques,
- c. the right to trade in copies of media at on a national and international, market using the Internet and other data transmission techniques by manner of telecommunications, IT and wireless networks,
- d. lending, renting, hiring and leasing of media on which the Works are recorded,
- e. preparing foreign language versions,
- f. entering onto computer and multimedia network in an unlimited number of copies and number of editions,
- g. use in multimedia works,
- h. use of all or parts of the Works for promotional and advertising purposes,
- i. making a Work available to the public in such a way that everyone may have access to it in a place and time of their own choosing, in an unlimited number of copies and volume of editions.

§ 7

OPFP PRODUCTION License

1. The OPFP PRODUCTION License entitles the Licensee to use the Works in the following fields of use:
 - a. Public play, Public performance, Public display, Public exposure,
 - b. Use on websites,
 - c. Use in multimedia works,
 - d. Using all or part of the Works for promotional and advertising purposes.
2. The OPFP PRODUCTION License does not entitle the Licensee to use the Works in the following fields of use:
 - a. recording on any audiovisual and/or audio media, in particular on audio, video, photosensitive tape, magnetic tape, computer disk and all types of media intended for digital recording,

- b. reproduction by any technique, including: magnetic technique onto video, audiovisual discs or any form of media adapted to this form of recording, any production whose aim is to make copies of the work, including printing, magnetic recording, reprographic and digital techniques,
- c. the right to trade in copies of media at on a national and international, market using the Internet and other data transmission techniques by manner of telecommunications, IT and wireless networks,
- d. lending, renting, hiring and leasing of media on which the Works are recorded,
- e. preparing foreign language versions,
- f. broadcasting via wired and wireless vision or sound systems by ground station and cable stations,
- g. broadcasting via satellite,
- h. simultaneous and integral broadcast (retransmission) of Works, among others, via digital platforms and cable networks,
- i. simultaneous and integral broadcast (retransmission) of Works via mobile or online substitutes for traditional television or radio broadcast (e.g. mobile TV, IPTV (streaming TV or video-on-demand), streaming radio),
- j. entering onto computer and multimedia network in an unlimited number of copies and number of editions,
- k. making a Work available to the public in such a way that everyone may have access to it in a place and time of their own choosing, in an unlimited number of copies and volume of editions.

§ 8

Unlawful use of the OPFP License

1. The Licensee may use the OPFP License only in the manner specified in the Type and scope of the OPFP License, depending on the License Type selected.
2. In addition to the unauthorized use of the Works on the OPFP License specified in the License Type in paragraph 5 point 2, paragraph 6 point 2, paragraph 7 point 2, the Licensee may not, in particular:
 - a. sublicense, resell, transfer or assign to any third party the OPFP License to the Works or for the Works under the OPFP License,
 - b. make the Works available for free or for free download by third parties,

- c. share Works in a manner, and in digital file formats, which would enable the downloading of Works, their distribution in peer-to-peer networks or in any file exchange or download systems,
- d. mark the Works using Content ID protected content identification systems, that they own or own any rights to,
- e. in relation to sensitive issues, use the Works in a manner that may be, on the basis of a reasonable assessment of the Licensor or under the applicable law, considered as: pornographic, obscene, immoral, offending religious feelings, undermining minority rights, violating legal provisions, defamatory or otherwise violating the good name and reputation of people, goods, rights or objects,
- f. use the Works in a manner suggesting that the Licensor or the owner of the rights to the Works personally use a specific product, service or personally support specific organizations, ideas,
- g. use the Works in the context of issues considered sensitive or sensitive, in particular, but not limited to: physical or mental disability, social problems, sexual activity or preferences, substance abuse, crime, physical or psychological harassment, or in the context of any other topic that could be reasonably considered offensive or unflattering,
- h. Use the works in spam-related activities i.e., sent to an extensive number of recipients who have not ordered the transmitted content.

§ 9

Changes to the content of the OPFP License

1. The Licensor may change the contents of the OPFP License for important reasons. Important causes are:
 - a. The introduction of new or changes in generally applicable laws,
 - b. changes or emergence of new interpretations of universally applicable legal provisions as a result of court decisions or decisions, recommendations, endorsements of authorities and public administration affecting the provisions of this license,
 - c. changes in market conditions related to technical, technological and IT progress,
 - d. changing the marketing name,
 - e. introduction or withdrawal of Licensee's rights,
 - f. extension or change of functionality of the Licensee's existing rights,

- g. the need to correct typing mistakes, as well as the unambiguity of the License provisions without affecting the Licensee's scope of rights.
2. The Licensee shall be informed with regards to the changes to the OPFP License and the effective date thereof one month in advance via the Licensor's website.
3. The date referred to in paragraph 2 does not apply to changes in the content of the OPFP License if the change concerns only:
 - a. changing the marketing name,
 - b. introduction of new rights of the Licensee,
 - c. extending the functionality of the Licensee's existing rights,
 - d. changes in existing functionalities, if not limiting the Licensee's current rights,
 - e. change of names, titles, subtitles and chapters of this license,
 - f. the necessity of correcting typing mistakes, as well as the unambiguity of the license provisions without affecting the Licensee's scope of rights.
4. Of the changes referred to in paragraph 3, the Licensee will be informed without undue delay via the Licensor's website.

§ 10

Final Provisions

1. To the extent not covered by this OPFP License, the provisions of the Polish Civil Code and the Law on Copyright and Related Rights shall apply.
2. Any disputes arising from or in connection with the implementation of the OPFP License will be resolved through mediation. Each of the Parties may unilaterally terminate mediation.
3. The place of resolving disputes arising from the implementation of the OPFP License will be the common court competent for the registered office of the Licensor.

Except for the limited purpose of publicly indicating that the Work has been licensed under the OPFP License, Licensor does not agree to use the OncePayFreePlay trademark and logo (OPFP), or any other trademark associated with it, without prior written permission. Any use, with permission, must be in accordance with the current directions of use of the Trademark and the OncePayFreePlay logo (OPFP), which are published on the website or otherwise made available. For the avoidance of doubt, this disclaimer regarding the trademark and logo is not part of this License.

You can contact the licensor at <https://opfp.org/>